MEMORANDUM

Date: March 8, 2006
To: Geologists: Rule Distribution Mailing List and All Interested Parties
From: Brett W. Lorentson
Subject: Filing of Preproposal Statement of Inquiry (CR-101)

This is a notice that on behalf of the Board, Department of Licensing (DOL) Business and Professions Department (BPD) has recently filed a Preproposal Statement of Inquiry (CR-101) with the Code Reviser's Office. (Please see attachment.)

A CR-101 is the beginning step for the Board to create or amend rules that shall increase the likelihood of generating positive effects on the efficiency and effectiveness related to the Board's processes. This CR-101 is specifically focused on structuring the Brief Adjudicative Proceedings (BAP) Washington Administrative Code (WAC) language to be consistent with the majority of Boards administered by DOL.

The following WAC's will be affected by this rule making effort:

- WAC 308-15-100: What is a brief adjudicative proceeding (BAP)?
- WAC 308-15-101: When can a brief adjudicative proceeding (BAP) be requested?
- WAC 308 15-103: How are brief adjudicative proceedings (BAPs) conducted?

Since this is a notice, we are not yet soliciting feedback or comments on the proposal's language. However, we will be notifying you in the near future about how you will be able to contribute to this course of action.

If you have questions please contact Brett W. Lorentson at (360) 664-1576 or email to blorentson@dol.wa.gov.
